

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TO THE ALUMNI OF THE JOHNSON NORMAL SCHOOL :—

For nearly three years the publication of an Alumni Record has been considered by the members of the Alumni, but nothing definite was done, however, until at the Alumni meeting, held at Normal Hall June 22, 1886, it was voted that a register, containing items with reference to each graduate and each teacher, former and present, should be published. A committee of five was appointed to prepare the same for publication. Five members of the Alumni and the Trustees of the school, together with its present Principal, pledged themselves to be responsible for the attending expenses.

Class reporters readily entered upon the work, and were diligent in their efforts; yet many, after long waiting, were forced to forward incomplete reports. It has been the aim of your committee to find the address of each unreported member. Such has been our success that with two exceptions communications have been received, either from each such member or from their friends who were fully able to give the desired information.

The reports of all graduates previous to Class 36 not marked thus † are brought forward to July 1886. All so marked and all reports of Classes from 36 to 40 inclusive are brought forward to March 1887.

Although the reports are necessarily brief, we trust that each Alumnus will regard with some degree of interest this first attempt to make a record of all graduates of the Johnson State Normal School.

HELEN L. STORY,
Chairman of Committee.

JOHNSON, VT., March 18, 1887.

EARLY DAYS OF THE SCHOOL.

This school was started as an Academy about the year 1828 with sixteen scholars. The teacher was a Dr. Carpenter, of whose former or subsequent career we can learn nothing, but tradition and history agree that for the first year or two the school was held in what is now the town clerk's office. It had originally been a shoe-shop. Desks having been put in to fit it for ministering to the minds of youth, instead of their soles, as formerly, the ring of the lap-stone or driving of shoe-pegs gave way to the reciting of Algebraic formulas, and "hic haec hoc."

Dr. Carpenter was instrumental in having the first Academy erected, where the Normal building now stands; the old red school-house which had previously stood there and served as district-school building, town-hall and church, having been moved across the street under the lee of the large rock there.

In 1830 Perry Haskell, a recent graduate of the U. V. M., took the school, remaining six years, after which he taught at the South. He has lately died at an advanced age in Ascutneyville.

In 1836, Lamoille County having been organized, and Johnson taken from Franklin County where it had formerly been, and made a part of the new county, the school was incorporated by act of Legislature as the Lamoille County Grammar School, and public lands were granted towards its support.

E. M. Toof was the next principal of the school, followed by B. J. Tenney, Wm. T. Herrick, C. Adams, Lyman T. Flint, Simeon H. Stevens, (who died here quite suddenly,) and Rev. Jason F. Walker, none of them remaining more than a year or two, and none are known to be now living, save Rev. Wm. T. Herrick in Castleton. The school was all the while steadily growing in public favor, subject, of course, to the periodical ups and downs which befall most similar institutions.

In 1846 L. O. Stevens took the school, and, through his energy and perseverance, the academy building was repaired and enlarged at an expense of $1200. In later years he settled in Iowa, where he is still living.

He was followed by Z. K. Pangborn, under whom the school at one time numbered 225 pupils, the highest it ever reached. Mr. Pangborn has for many years been the successful editor of a Jersey City paper.

H. M. Wallace taught the school for one year; then R. C. Benton, now a flourishing lawyer in Minneapolis; M. P. Parmalee, who for many years has been a foreign missionary in Turkey; L. D. Eldridge, now a prominent lawyer in Middlebury; Geo. W. Squier, who afterwards went West to teach and died there; and S. H. Shonyo. Joseph Marsh, a son of President Marsh of the U. V. M., was in charge one term, also Miss Myra Benton, after whom came S. H. Pearl, during whose time of teaching the school surrendered its original charter, and was chartered as a State Normal School. Also in Mr. Pearl's third year in 1866, the building was almost entirely rebuilt, enlarged to double its former size, and fitted up in pretty much the shape it is in at this time, only minor alterations having since been made.

All honor to the memory of our ancestors who planted this tree of knowledge, and nurtured it through its tender years, that its fruit might bless us, their descendants. May their remotest posterity ever be worthy the ancestry.

S. H. PEARL.

S. H. Pearl, the last Principal of the Academy, and the first of the Normal School, was a "man of mark." He fitted for college at Craftsbury Academy, and graduated from the U. V. M. in the class of '59; was married the next year to Miss Lydia White, of Craftsbury, a sweet, gentle woman, whom to know was to love.

He came here in the fall of '63, bringing into the school a fund of enthusiasm, of new methods and ideas, which did not fail to impress themselves upon the public in general, as well as upon his own special pupils. It was largely through his influence that the Normal School was located here, and the building fitted to receive it, which was done in three and a half years after his coming here. He graduated nine classes from the Normal School, and it is safe to say that never will one of his graduates forget him or cease to bless his memory. He so impressed his personality upon his pupils, and made them feel the greatness of their responsibility in the vocation for which they were fitting, that life assumed here a new meaning and depth to many a young mind and heart.

Mr. Pearl worked well, but not wisely for himself, perhaps exemplifying his favorite maxim: "It is better to wear out than to rust out;" but those who wished for him a long career of usefulness, would rather he had been content to have rusted a little, if need be, than to have worn out so prematurely. In 1871 he went from here to the Normal School in Plymouth, N. H., where he was as deservedly popular; but his work was short, closing in death Aug. 4, 1873. He labored as long as strength lasted and finally "dropped in the harness."

He and his wife sleep, side by side, in the beautiful Trinity church-yard at Plymouth.

HARLAN S. PERRIGO, A. M.

1872—1875.

Principal Perrigo was born in Potsdam, N. Y., June 22, 1843, his parents having moved there from Vermont in 1836. He was educated in the common schools, at St. Lawrence Academy and at Middlebury College. He taught seven terms before graduation, and six and one-half years after graduation. He was elected Principal of the Johnson Normal School, as successor of Mr. Mead, and began his duties in the fall of 1872. He held this position until the spring term of 1875.

Under his Principalship the school improved in its methods and results, and grew in public favor.

Although a man of few words in the class-room and before an audience, his instruction was thorough and his discipline was excellent. Himself a scholar, he stimulated a desire for scholarly attainments among his pupils.

In the fall of 1877 he engaged in the insurance business at Potsdam, N. Y., and is still in the same business. He is also serving his second term of three years as School Commissioner for the Third District of St. Lawrence Co., having been elected in November, 1881, and re-elected in 1884.

WILLIAM C. CRIPPEN.

William C. Crippen was Principal from 1875 to 1881, the longest term of service of any Principal in the history of the school. He was a native of West Rutland, and his early life was spent there upon a farm. Wholly by his own exertions, he acquired his education and by his characteristic energy and will overcame all obstacles in his way.

He graduated from the Second Course of the Randolph Normal School in January, 1875, and immediately accepted the position as Principal of this school.

Mr. Crippen was a genius as a teacher and an enthusiastic worker in his profession. While he was Principal the school hummed with activities, and its number of students was trebled. His life was ever bubbling over with merriment and it was impossible to be long in contact with him without being inspirited with some of his life.

In December, 1880, his life was saddened by the loss of his inestimable wife, and soon after he resigned the position as Principal. He has ever since been engaged in business in Canton, Penn., and at the present time is Mayor of that city.

EDWARD CONANT, A. M.

Mr. Conant became Principal in 1881, and continued to hold the position till 1884. In early manhood he resolved to give his life work to the educational interests of the State of Vermont. During his preparatory studies and college course this was his aim. While teaching in Academy or Randolph Normal School he gave his untiring efforts to rightly train those who were to be teachers. His six years' service as State Superintendent of Education gave him an opportunity to learn the condition of the schools of the State which he could have had in no other way. After experience as a teacher for a quarter of a century, and as Superintendent of Education for six years, he came to the position as Principal of this school, with all the vigor of youth, and his long cherished desire to advance the schools of the State only intensified by his experience.

Considering this, it hardly needs to be added that his work in this school was of a high order, and went straight to accomplishing the objects he thought were needed. The standard of the school was advanced. More was required of the pupil to enter the school and more to graduate. The increased requirements for admission and the lengthened course occasioned the loss of some students, but he considered the benefits to be derived from the change would more than compensate for the loss. It gave a better class of students to work upon, and the increased requirements for graduation guaranteed to the public that the graduates were more thoroughly fitted for their work. As we look upon it now we see that it was not only a wise measure but a necessary one.

Through the efforts of Mr. Conant and Rev. A. A. Smith, President of the Board of Trustees, the village school was quite thoroughly graded, a complete course of study was laid out for the scholars, and it was put in a way to become a fitting school for the Normal, and has proved to be of great benefit to the district school. Mr. Conant also made arrangements with the district to take the primary department of the district school to have for a model school in connection with the Normal; but, before the time arrived for the arrangement to take effect, he resigned the position of Principal.

In the summer of 1884, when it was announced that Mr. Conant desired to return to his first love, the Randolph Normal School, it occasioned feelings of deep regret on the part of the trustees, the citizens of Johnson, and the friends of the school wherever they were; and, when the change was fully decided upon, the trustees only hoped to be able to find some one to succeed him who would keep the school on as high a plane and in as healthful a condition as they then thought it to be.

A. H. CAMPBELL, A. M.

The present Principal became such in the summer of 1884. Upon the resignation of Mr. Conant the trustees were given the unpleasant task of procuring another Principal. They realized the necessity of finding some one whose antecedents were all right in every particular. Qualification, experience and purpose were all to be considered. Mr. Campbell was recommended, and the following facts ascertained : —

He was a native of New Hampshire ; and, after attending the Nashua High School and New London Academy, he graduated from Bridgewater, Mass., Normal School in 1870, from Mont Vernon Academy in 1872, and from Dartmouth College with the degree of A. B. in 1877, and received the degree of A. M. from the same college in 1880. After graduating he was Principal of Kingston, N. H., Academy for three years, and Associate Principal of Cushing Academy, Ashburnham, Mass., five years. It was also learned that he had chosen the profession of teaching for a life-work. From this and additional information, the trustees thought that Mr. Campbell was just the man to take the school at its already advanced position and carry it on to a still higher plane ; and to-day, after a three-years' trial, even more is realized than was anticipated. There has been a steady increase in the requirements for admission, and a corresponding advancement in the standard of scholarship in all the classes and departments, so that, while the securing of the Normal School certificate requires more work, it stands for more work performed and is of more value to the graduate. The school is more thoroughly normal than ever it was before, and does a large amount of strictly professional work.

The model school, consisting of the village primary school, which his predecessor had arranged for, was established by Mr. Campbell at the first, and has been maintained in successful operation ever since. All the students in the B and A terms spend several weeks in teaching classes and governing the school. Classes from the upper grade of the village school are received in the Normal Building and taught by members of the graduating class under the constant supervision of the Normal teachers, so that the minimum practice in teaching of each graduate during the last two terms is one hour per day for twenty weeks.

Mr. Campbell is untiring in his efforts to make the school all that could be expected of it, and to advance it in its prosperity till it attains all that is hoped for by its fondest friends. To this end he looks with the utmost carefulness to all of the minutiae. The health and deportment of the students are carefully looked after. Beside the training of the intellect, provision is made for the development of the moral and social elements with manifest results for good. Courses of popular lectures have been established, in which the students have the advantage of hearing some of the best talent in the land. This course was inaugurated by Mr. Campbell, though seconded and helped by the citizens of the town, and is one of the most profitable adjuncts of the school.

The outlook of the school was never so favorable as now; and it is earnestly hoped that we may long have the mature, able mind and careful, directing hand of Mr. Campbell at the head of our much-loved school.
